Introducing Bredent's Exciting NEW Ceramico Trays!

Bredent recently introduced an exciting new series of ceramic and staining trays that have been designed to be both practical, but also stylish. The trays come in exciting incisor, molar and implant shapes that will add a personal touch to your working area. The GlossOne and WetOne series are shaped like incisors. The GlossOne is a not a self-hydrating tray but has a special airtight seal which preserves the consistency of the porcelain. Choose between the GlossOne3 which has 3 mixing wells, or the GlossOne 14 which comes with a total of 14 mixing wells. The WetOne is a self-hydrating tray which conveniently keeps the porcelain moist via a capillary action. The GlossOne is also available in the WetOne3 or the WetOne14 design. The BlackMolar is designed attractively in the shape of a molar with overglazed nerve canals and is used to mix light-curing materials; the lid protects the materials from UV light. ## Introducing Renfert's New SYMPRO!

minutes the Sympro will have removed difficult deposits such as plaque and tartar, and stains such as coffee, tea and red wine. The technology is based on the use of the SYMPROfluid and the magnetic pins. Renfert discovered that optimal cleaning results are achieved at an angle of 35° to the base of the unit. At this angle, the pins are at their most efficient in the liquid solution. The unit works on a sequential reverse rotation so that the dentures are moved to different positions within the chamber in order to increase cleaning efficiency, in even the most difficult to reach areas. The three rotational speeds guarantee a material compatible, efficient and gentle cleaning procedure suitable for all types of objects. After the liquid solution, the pins, are the second most important aspect to the cleaning process. The optimal "pin cleaning" is obtained through the use of a rotating magnetic field which oscillates the pin against any tartar, plaque or other deposits on the prosthesis. The rotating pins warm the cleaning bath up to approximately 45° C / 113° F which intensifies the effect of the chemical reaction. The pins are made from an acid resistant alloy and their shape although not noticeable to the naked eye are designed to be highly effective and durable. The Renfert pins are cut exactly at a right angle which makes them highly efficient and at the same time gentle to the object's surface. Conventional pins are cut in a bevelled fashion, are uneven, have less impact energy plus the sharp edges can damage the surface of the object to be cleaned. Renfert provides two powerful liquids. The SYMPROfluid Universal is used in conjunction with the SYMPRO to remove classic deposits, such as plaque, tartar, stains and denture adhesive. The SYMPROfluid Nicoclean is used whenever post-treatment is necessary without the use of the device.

Featured Product; Bredent's New Magic Contrast Brushes

Recently, we have seen excellent innovations in brush hair design for ceramics. None is more exciting than Bredent's new MagicContrast ceramic brushes. The MagicContrast is extremely elastic and springs back to a sharp tip immediately after picking up the ceramic material. The bristles ensure the correct water conservation and retention for porcelain work via their good retention properties. These brushes are unique because they are hand made in Germany. They consist of top quality black artificial hair that exhibits a higher flexibility and stability over conventional types. The special bundling of hair creates a bell shaped design at the base and a taper at the tip. The shape contributes to improved storage of liquid and allows the tip to take up small quantities as required for layering of ceramics. The new hair enables the user to obtain a spatula shape by pressing the hair together enabling a larger quantity to be picked up. This contrast
